ARTHUR COWEE

Gladiolus Specialist Meadowvale Farm
Berlin, Rensselaer County, N. Y., U. S. A.

Cable address—"Coweevale"

AFTER years of careful selection from the named novelties of the World, combined with the cream of the Hybrids originated by Mr. H. H. Groff, I am prepared to offer the Seedsmen and critical Growers stock of such quality and strength as cannot be duplicated at my prices.

My named varieties are true, and my color sections are as pure as experienced labor can make them. My Mixtures and Collections are prepared, not grown, and are well balanced. In the preparation parentage is a secondary consideration, the main object being to furnish the highest quality and strongest vitality possible, commensurate with the cost of labor and intelligence required to produce such.

The best testimonial I can offer is the fact that so far the largest increase in my business is from satisfied customers.

All prices herein are subject to crop failure and prior sale and are for delivery Fall of 1906 and Spring of 1907, F. O. B. Berlin, N. Y., in good condition after which my responsibility ceases. During the cold weather, all packages are thoroughly lined with several thicknesses of straw paper, and planer shavings are used to prevent bruising.

Bulbs are sized as follows:

1st size, $1\frac{1}{2}$ inches in diameter and upward.

2nd size, $1\frac{1}{4}$ inches to $1\frac{1}{2}$ inches.
